U.S. News & World Report and Best Lawyers Again Rank Greenberg Gross as a “Best Law Firm”

COSTA MESA (November 2, 2015) — Greenberg Gross LLP is pleased to announce that U.S. News & World Report and Best Lawyers have once again listed the firm among the “Best Law Firms.” Greenberg Gross is ranked among the top firms in the metropolitan area of Orange County for the practice areas of Commercial Litigation and White-Collar Criminal Defense.

Firms included in the annual listing have demonstrated professional excellence and received “persistently impressive ratings from clients and peers,” according to the publications. Achieving a ranking “signals a unique combination of quality law practice and breadth of legal expertise.”

“We are proud and honored to be selected once again for inclusion in Best Law Firms,” said managing partner Alan Greenberg. “We are deeply gratified that our clients and fellow attorneys recognize our dedication and passion and that they have endorsed us for this prestigious list every year since our founding.”

Despite being less than three years old, Greenberg Gross has gathered an impressive list of clients and already ranks among the elite law firms in the region. Its recent trial victories include a multimillion-dollar award, including punitive damages, on a counterclaim in a corporate M&A case for a publicly traded Swiss global engineering company and a seven-figure jury verdict on behalf of a client defrauded out of his share of the $43 million sale of a chain of dialysis centers.

In a recent pretrial victory, Greenberg Gross obtained the dismissal of a $600 million RICO claim asserted against a large, prominent law firm.

Current cases include nationally and internationally significant litigation, such as the defense of financial giant AIG, a fraud action on behalf of a London-based investment firm against a billion dollar private equity fund, a gender discrimination lawsuit by an in-house attorney against Broadcom, and a diesel emissions class action against Volkswagen.

Greenberg Gross partners Alan Greenberg, Wayne Gross, and Michael Katz were recently selected for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America® 2016. Greenberg was chosen for his work in commercial litigation, Gross in the practice area of white-collar criminal defense, and Katz for intellectual property litigation.
